

Assistant Professor in Demography and Public Affairs

The Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University invites applications for a tenure track assistant professor position in demography and public affairs, beginning September, 2009. The appointment will be made jointly with another academic department (e.g., economics, ecology and evolutionary biology, politics, sociology). Substantive and methodological specialization in demography is open, but candidates should have a strong research agenda, a commitment to graduate and undergraduate teaching, and well articulated interests in public policy.

Candidates should submit a letter of interest, a curriculum vita, a 2-3 page statement summarizing research accomplishments and future plans. Please send application materials electronically to Ms. Mary Lou Delaney (md@princeton.edu). Three letters of reference should be submitted separately either electronically or paper copy to her attention at: Office of Population Research, Wallace Hall, Princeton, NJ 08544.

Screening will begin on October 30, 2008 and continue until the position is filled.

Princeton is an AA/EO employer and strongly encourages applications from minorities, women, and those with disabilities. For information about applying to Princeton and how to self identify, please link to http://www.princeton.edu/dof/about_us/dof_job_openings/