Postdoctoral Fellowships for 2011-2014

Application postmark deadline: October 1, 2010

The Princeton Society of Fellows, an interdisciplinary group of scholars in the humanities, social sciences, and selected natural sciences, invites applications for the 2011-2014 fellowship competition.

Five fellowships will be awarded:

Open Fellowship (all disciplines represented in the Society)
Fellowships (two) in Humanistic Studies
Fellowship in LGBT Studies
Fellowship in Race and/or Ethnicity Studies

Applicants for any of the specialized fellowships may also apply for an Open fellowship. Please see our website (listed below) for fellowship descriptions, application guidelines, and relevant disciplines.

Hosted jointly by the Humanities Council and academic departments, Postdoctoral Fellows pursue their research, attend a weekly fellows' seminar, and teach half-time as Lecturers for a term of three years. In each of the first two years, Fellows typically teach one course each semester. In their third year, Fellows teach only one course while remaining in residence in Princeton.

The stipend for 2011-2012 will be approximately $72,000. Fellows must reside in or near Princeton during the academic year. Non-US citizens may apply. Recipients of doctoral degrees in Education, Jurisprudence, and holders of Ph.D. degrees from Princeton University are not eligible. Candidates may apply only once to the Princeton Society of Fellows competition.

- Selection is based on scholarly achievement and evidence of unusual promise; range and quality of teaching experience; potential contributions to an interdisciplinary community.
- A candidate holding the Ph.D. at the time of application must have received the degree after January 1, 2009.
A candidate not yet holding the Ph.D. must have completed a substantial portion of the dissertation at the time of application, and include a letter from the department chair confirming such progress toward degree. Fellows must fulfill all requirements for the Ph.D., including filing of the dissertation, by June 15, 2011. See website for details.
- Candidates are asked to submit an application form (online) and to mail the complete dossier, postmarked by October 1, 2010, to:
